

Bausch + Lomb to Showcase New Scientific Data During the Annual Meeting of the American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery

April 11, 2018

More than 20 Podium Presentations, Posters and Films to be Featured

LAVAL, Quebec, April 11, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Bausch + Lomb, a leading global eye health company and wholly owned subsidiary of Valeant Pharmaceuticals International (NYSE/TSX: VRX), will present more than 20 new scientific data presentations, including 17 podium presentations and three posters, at the American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery (ASCRS) Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., from April 13-17, 2018.

"The breadth of data being presented at the ASCRS this year reinforces our commitment to investing in research across the Bausch + Lomb business, one of our core therapeutic areas of focus," said Joseph C. Papa, chairman and CEO, Valeant. "We are committed to the continued advancement of our eye health offerings to meet the needs of our customers and their patients."

A wet lab at the company's booth, as well as educational programs, will also provide opportunities for surgeons to gain firsthand experience with, and learn more about, Bausch + Lomb technologies. These include the company's latest next-generation platform for cataract and retina surgery, Stellaris Elite™ vision enhancement system, the VICTUS® femtosecond laser for advanced cataract and corneal applications, and its broad selection of intraocular lenses (IOLs) and delivery systems, including the new enVista® MX60E with StableFlex™ technology.

The full schedule research to be presented includes:
